36TH SESSION OF NATIONAL MEDICAL ASSN.

The National Medical association, composed of Negro physicians, surgeons, dentists and pharmacists of the United States, will convene for its thirty-sixth annual meeting at Indianapolis, August 18, 1930.

Sometime ago, mention of the coming of this great organization to Indianapolis was made in the papers, but at that time, plans and general preparations for the occasion were just in the making. It has been reported by Dr. J. B. Hankal, chairman of the Publicity committee, that all arrangements are about complete.

The N. M. A., comes to Indianapolis as the guest of the Indiana State Medical society of which Dr. Earl Roberts is president and Dr. E. D. Moten, secretary. Dr. Moten is also chairman of the Cen. Executive committee, appointed by the State Medical society to make all arrangements and preparations for the meeting.

Dr. I. N. Turner, chairman of the Finance committee, reports that with the exception of a few local medical men, the profession throughout the state is rallying almost 100 percent. This fact alone indicates that all are co-operating to make this the thirty-sixth meeting the greatest of all.

This gathering of scientific men will mean the coming to Indianapolis of about 1,500 people, possibly from 800 to 1,000 being members of the allied branches of Medical science. Dr. H. L. Hummons, chairman of the Homes committee, reports that more than 800 reservations in the most comfortable and best equipped hotels, rooming houses and private homes of our group have been made and more are being made daily. Many predict that the meeting in August will probably be the greatest in the history of Indianapolis because of the fact that Indianapolis, the "Cross Roads of America," is centrally located. ## South Bend Police Capture Slayer will be the general headquarters, as well as the place for the regular daily sessions. Parkview hotel, will be the executive headquarters of the officials.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 25.—Frank Scott, 39 years old, who fled immediately after shooting Sham Hampton here Thursday night of last week, was captured in a railroad yard as he was about to board a freight train. Scott said Hampton had alienated his wife's affections.

The wives, daughters and sisters of physicians, dentists and pharmacists in Indianapolis, have organized an auxiliary to the State Medical society. This group of which Mrs. W. E. Brown is president, invited the wives of medical men throughout the state to affiliate with them. While very few have done so, the local group is co-operating with the men in a wonderful way. These faithful women are sponsoring several social affairs for the delegates and the visitors to the convention.

Mr. F. B. Ransom, successful manager of the Walker company, who graciously accepted the toga of Chairmanship of the Citizens' committee states that interest is at a high point and all Indianapolis eagerly awaits the coming of the Medics. The Citizens' committee is planning a very elaborate reception in honor of the delegates.

The scientific program, on which will appear many of the outstanding men of the profession, promises to be the best in the history of the organization. From the report of Dr. David, the clinics will be unsurpassed by those of any previous years. Some of the most reputable surgeons will operate at the City hospital during the hours set for the clinics.

While the social program is not so elaborate in its scope as to interfere with or absorb the scientific program, the activities arranged by the State Medical society, the Ladies auxiliary and the Citizens' committee will furnish ample entertainment for delegates and visitors.

WASHINGTON - PIERSON CASE AWAITS GOVERNOR'S CAMPAIGN

Townsend's Extradition Plea Held In Abeyance While Tennesseans Wage Political Battle For State Chief

NASHVILLE CITIZENS IN QUANDARY

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 25.—(ANP)—Tennessee is in throes of a gubernatorial campaign, and thus far Governor Horton has not had time to stop his strenuous stump speaking long enough to hear the Townsend extradition plea. The governor of Indiana has signed papers asking for the extradition of the Townsends into Indiana where they may be formally arraigned at Scottsburg. The attorney general is said to be very anxious to have the hearing and would have held it the day the arrests were made since the governor was then in town, but the papers were late in reaching him from the prosecuting attorney in Scottsburg.

The town abounds in rumors. Among them is the story that Dr. Townsend first made the acquaintance of Washington, the reputed murderer, two years ago. Someone mysteriously shot Dr. Townsend in the foot one night. No one appeared to know who did it nor was any reason ever made public. Inquiring for a good investigator, Rev. Westbrook of Indianapolis, a friend of Townsend, is said to have recommended Washington. Townsend hired him but no report of his activities was ever made. There are those who think, however, that Washington in his report to Townsend, had accused Pierson of being the man who shot him.

Nashville in Quandary
A year later at the last Baptist convention in Kansas City, when one of the committees was meeting, Mr. Pierson is said to have been toying with a revolver which was of .32 calibre. Noticing the weapon, Dr. Townsend is said to have exclaimed, "Why that's the same calibre gun I was shot with." After the incident one is said to have had to pass three secretaries before they could reach Dr. Townsend's office.

Another story unconfirmed, but given great credence is of an occurrence when the attorney general of the State of Tennessee, interviewed Dr. Townsend when the arrests were about to be made. Dr. Townsend, who is a quiet, stolid type of man, showed absolutely no emotion as questions were asked him. "Man," the questioning official is said to have exclaimed, "how can you be so cold about the death of a man who worked so closely with you for twelve years." It is said Dr. Townsend just shrugged his shoulders. The questioner then is said to have directly accused Dr. Townsend of complicity. The answer from the physician who preferred church work to the practice of medicine, is said to have been simply, "prove it."

Nashville is in a quandary. People scarcely know what to believe. Dr. Townsend, one of the most powerful men in the city, has many friends, as well as many who fear him, perhaps because they do not understand his quiet power.

Speculation Rife
No one believes that Dr. Townsend even if implicated deliberately set out to have a crime committed. They think that if involved he became so through the machinations of the arch conspirator, Washington.

Those who have tried to construct a probable case reason somewhat in this fashion: Washington, who, according to advices from Indiana, is an extremely dangerous person of almost diabolical cunning, knew Townsend through his employment in the investigation made when Townsend was shot. The general turmoil which had been existing in Baptist circles because of reputed discrepancies uncovered by Pierson was a much discussed issue. Washington perhaps approached one of the principals agreeing that he could settle the matter. He may have been employed without any idea that murder itself was contemplated. The swift turn of events thereafter was not contemplated. Westbrook's friends declare that he was drawn in entirely innocently. He is said to have been entirely immersed in his church work. He was not outstanding. People never thought of him in large civic affairs. As one citizen visiting here remarked: "If you wanted a church to hold a large public meeting you would never think of Westbrook's church. He just did not count."

PARIS, July 25.—Welcomed by a Negro jazz band playing "Onward Christian Soldiers," 55 Gold star mothers arrived here July 22 on the boat train from the liner American Merchant. ## Last Rites Of Dr. I. G. Penn, Sr., Held In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, July 25.—(Special to The Recorder)—Word has just been received of the death of Dr. I. Garland Penn, Sr., one of the outstanding Negro leaders of the M. E. church. At the time of his death Dr. Penn was the Endowment secretary of the Board of Education of the M. E. church. Dr. Penn had the very unique distinction of having been a member of more general conferences in the M. E. church than any man of any race, having been a member of eight consecutive general conferences. His beloved wife preceded him in death only a few weeks ago. Dr. Penn has five daughters and a son to mourn his passing. His son the Rev. Dr. I. G. Penn, Jr., is the district superintendent of Columbus district, Lexington conference of the M. E. church and ranks as one of the leaders of the conference. Like his illustrious father the young Dr. Penn possesses the qualities which will no doubt place him in the life of the church as did his father. He ranks today as one of the leading candidates from his conference to the coming general conference to be held in 1932.

The funeral of Dr. Penn, Sr., was to be held in this city Friday at eleven o'clock.

Texas Rangers Guard Colored Farm Hand

PAMPA, Texas, July 25.—Four Texas rangers, armed with machine guns and tear gas bombs, Wednesday night of last week, patrolled the county jail here in which Jesse Lee Washington, farm hand, charged with assaulting and attacking a white woman at Shamrock, is held pending preliminary hearing.

Charges against Washington will be considered by a special grand jury at Wheeler, 18 miles south of Shamrock.

are said to be breathing freely now that Washington is safely behind the bars. He has been an enigma during the few years he has lived in Indianapolis. An associate of uncertain elements, a stool pigeon for the police, an investigator for the Ku Klux, reputed to be an undercover man for the prohibition department, then aligned with the Catholics, giving testimony in liquor cases, that the Klux and prohibition officers working together were trying to "frame" the Catholics. That was how he escaped prosecution when he shot his former associate, Hiway Policeman Carl Loche, in a nearby county courtroom. The Catholics controlled the county. Washington served as an investigator for the Terre Haute (Ind.) N. A. A. C. P. in the Kennedy kidnapping case two years ago. They voted to let him have the $300 they had in the treasury but that is the last they ever heard of the $300 or the investigation. In jail at Scottsburg, Washington is said to be shouting to whoever will come within earshot, that he is being persecuted because he is a member of the black branch of the Ku Klux. Gary police are said to believe him the murderer of a minister there, three years ago. Neither the body nor any clue have ever been uncovered.

Startling Federal Intervention Came Just After Gov. Holloway's Statement "I Am Advised By Beckham County Officials That All Is Quiet And No Outside Assistance Is Necessary To Restore Order"

"IF STATE AUTHORITIES CAN'T FIND GROUNDS TO ACT, I CAN" — LEWIS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 25.—(By Roscoe Dunjee for The Associated Negro Press)—Deputy United States marshals left for Erick, Okla., Friday with warrants for 23 persons charged with terrorizing and looting the homes of Beckham county Negroes.

Some of the 23rd charged with driving the blacks from their homes by "night riding" and placarding the county with warning signs are deputy sheriffs and other officials, said U. S. Atty. Roy St. Lewis, who filed the charges.

"The right to receive employment as a laborer for hire, and earn a living and to lease lands is a fundamental right to inherent in every free citizen and a conspiracy by a group of people to prevent Negro citizens from exercising these rights because of their race or color, is a conspiracy to deprive them of a privilege secured to them by the Constitution and laws of the United States," said Mr. Lewis to a Black Dispatch representative.

The startling announcement of the federal district attorney came right upon the heels of the disquieting statement emanating from the state capital, where Governor W. J. Holliday was quoted as stating that "I am advised by Beckham County officials that things have quieted down and that they need no outside assistance to restore order."

"Can things be quiet in Beckham as long as more than 200 free citizens are deprived of the right to their homes and crops?" queried the U. S. official. "Can things be quiet when twelve responsible white citizens come into this office and swear that peace officers of Beckham county co-operated with the mob in driving the Negroes out of the area?"

Ernest Scott, Theodore Scott and Julius Alexander, all Negroes, are the complaining witnesses in the information filed by St. Lewis. The defendants are charged with conspiracy to prevent Negroes from leasing, occupying and cultivating land in Beckham county, Oklahoma. A complete list of all of the names of Negroes driven out is also in the hands of St. Lewis.

A copy of a petition circulated by mob members had also been secured by St. Lewis. It reads as follows: "We, the undersigned citizens of Erick, Oklahoma and surrounding county, being taxpayers and property owners and legal voters of Beckham county do not want Negroes in the town of Erick or its trade territory; we being in the majority." The original signatures of the persons who signed this petition were attached.

The charges filed by St. Lewis are based upon the broad latitude given the federal government by the 13th amendment to protect the life and property of citizens. Section 1 of the Civil Rights act reads:

"If two or more persons conspire to injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate any citizen in the free exercise or employment of any right, or privilege secured to him under the Constitution or laws of the United States, or because of his having exercised the same, or if two or more persons go in disguise on the highway, or on any premise of another, with intent to prevent or hinder his free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege, they shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars and imprisoned not more than ten years and shall, moreover, be therefore ineligible to any office or place of honor, profit, or trust created by the Constitution or laws of the United States.

"I expect to go the limit in this case," said the official. "If the state authorities can find no ground upon which to act, I can."

When asked whether he felt he could secure convictions under the statute quoted, Lewis said: "Well, they did it once before down in Arkansas. Here is what Judge Triebel said in the case of U. S. Morris et al, 125 Federal 322: "A conspiracy between two or more persons to prevent Negro citizens from exercising the right to lease and cultivate land, because they are Negroes, is a conspiracy to deprive them of a right secured to them by the Constitution and laws of the United States, within the meaning of Revised Statutes, U. S., section 5508 (U. S. St. 1901 P. 3172.)"

Continuing, Judge Triebel said: "Congress has the power, under the 13th Amendment to protect citizens of the United States in the enjoyment of those rights which are fundamental and belong to every citizen. If the deprivation of such rights is solely because of race or color and section 1 of the Civil Rights act is within such power."

Night riders taking advantage of rumors and charges which allege that a Negro by the name of Jesse Lee Washington had brutally killed a white woman on a farm near Shamrock, Texas, have been busy during the past week in Beckham county, just across the line from Texas, ordering Negro farmers away from their homes, crops and other effects. Hundreds had to flee in the night. Washington stoutly denies his guilt. He was asleep in his cabin when informed that he was wanted on murder charges.

An investigation made at Elk City by a Black Dispatch representative disclosed that the slain woman and her husband have been having domestic trouble over an extended period; that he had sworn to kill her if she ever attempted to leave him. Just why suspicion does not lay at his door is a seven-day wonder with all who are not paralyzed with Negro-phobia.

NEW FORM OF KU KLUX KLAN IN ATLANTA

ATLANTA, Ga., July 25.—With utmost secrecy an undetermined number of men, "sovereign, white and of true blood," are being invited to affiliate with an organization called "Caucasian Crusade," which is supported, ostensibly by seven widely known Atlantans, whose past activities and known sympathies indicate the organization is intended as a vast new edition of the Ku Klux Klan. The seven sponsors whose names are signed to a printed letter include a founder of the Ku Klux Klan, a Georgia congressman, a former congressman and noted criminal lawyer, a veteran Atlantic editor, a physician who operates a private sanitarium, a sheriff and a wealthy undertaker.

Old Klan Expires
The Ku Klux Klan itself, founded with flourishing auspices eleven years ago by William Simmons, has virtually expired as a going concern because of adverse public sentiment and unfavorable publicity over the nation.

Simmons, under a contract with the Klan which was to provide him with a substantial salary for life, sold out his contract for $100,000. Since then the Klan has steadily declined in prestige, leaving conditions ripe for a successor organization embracing the requisite emotional attractions, yet offering fresh banners.

"Caucasian Crusade" is believed by those familiar with its organic leadership to be ready to step

BLACK MAN AND WHITE KILLER ARE EXECUTED

MALESTER, Okla., July 25.—A colored man who raced death saying "God will take care of his children," and a white man who embraced religion an hour before his execution, died in the electric chair. The colored man, James Forrest, 23, walked into the death chamber at midnight July 17. He was smiling when the Rev. W. B. Alcock, a physician pronounced him dead. Forrest was convicted of attacking a white woman.

Tom Guest, the white man who was convicted of murder during a holdup, was dead at 12:14 a. m. He appeared in the door leading from solitary confinement cells almost as soon as Forrest's body was carried away.

Maintain Innocence
Both men maintained their innocence to the last.

"I am ready," the colored man told the Rev. Alcock as he was led to the death house. "I am going home. God will take care of his children."

Guest spent more than 1,000 days in death row and spurned religion until near the end.

Edward Bentley Is Victim Of Hit And Run Driver

Edward Bentley, 50 years old, 517 N. West street, was knocked down and fatally injured Saturday night at 12 o'clock at Michigan and Indiana avenue by a passing automobile.

The injured man was rushed to the City hospital where he died Sunday morning.

Police officers are searching for the death driver whose identity has not yet been ascertained.

Mr. Bentley, who was for some time engaged in the second hand dealers business, was born in Hardman county, Tennessee, and had lived in Indianapolis many years.

In an interview with relatives Tuesday evening, it was said that up until then no trace of the hit-and-run driver had been found.

All day Monday, a steady line of former friends and acquaintances of Mr. Bentley viewed the body at the Peoples Burial company's headquarters in North West street.

Mr. Bentley is survived by the widow, two sons and a brother.

The printed letter is headed:

"Blood brother and fellow patriot: A personal friend of yours requested it, hence this letter to you. For this friend's sake, read it carefully."

Tells Of Purposes

The paper proceeds to describe "a great, distinctly independent, unique, and most timely nationwide movement, inaugurated and sponsored by serious minded devoted, mature, honorable men."

The purpose of the organization are catalogued thus: "To preserve and to perpetuate the white man's distinctive ideals, social supremacy and economic interest in all things; to preach and propagate original constitutional principals of correct Americanisms; to protect and to maintain our sacred 'race' heritage at all hazards; to courageously and effectively oppose the rapidly rising tide of 'racial' and 'alien' political, social and industrial conquest, activities and influence in America and to counteract the mischievous machinations of the subtle but fast multiplying mongrelizing movements now so active in our midst."

More discretely worded, those tenets are substantially those advanced by the Ku Klux Klan in 1919.

MILTON ROBINSON, VETERAN CIVIL WAR SOLDIER, DIES

Member Of First Negro Unit In Memorable Struggle Between The States Succumbs To Heat At Fulton Street Home

BURIED IN SOLDIERS' CEMETERY

Funeral services for Milton Robinson, 90 years old, Civil war veteran, who died Thursday of last week at his home, 532 Fulton street after he had become overcome by the heat, were held Saturday afternoon at the Allen chapel church.

Served In 64th Massachusetts
Mr. Robinson served in the 64th Massachusetts volunteers, the 1st regiment of colored soldiers organized during the war between the states on the same basis as white troops.

The well known war veteran died on the eve of the anniversary of the capture of Fort Wagner, S. C., during which his regiment was nearly annihilated. The latter circumstance was precipitated when Robinson's regiment made a charge against the Confederate earthworks on Morris Island, opposite Charleston, July 18, 1863.

Lived Here Since War
Except for a short period which he spent in the soldier home at Lafayette, deceased had lived in Indianapolis since the Civil war. For many years Mr. Robinson was employed in caring for lawns and shrubbery about the city.

In a foreword of Mrs. Martha Nicholson, McKay's book, "When the Tide Turned in the Civil War," Mr. Robinson is mentioned. The book was written in 1923. Mr. McKay is an Indianapolis resident. Mr. Robinson is mentioned in the book's foreword as being one of the few remaining veterans who served in the famous regiment.

Born In Kentucky
Mr. Robinson was born in Henry county, Ky., July 1, 1840. When Federal troops conquered that section Mr. Robinson fled to Indiana with a company of volunteer soldiers.

The trip to Hoosierdom was made easy for the fleeing Kentuckian by a white officer who permitted Robinson to ride behind him on his horse.

Answered the Call
During the conflict Governor Andrew of the State of Massachusetts issued a call for the formation of a Negro regiment. The call to arms appealed to Mr. Robinson to such an extent that he went to Massachusetts immediately to enlist in the regiment, of which Col. Robert Gould Shaw was placed in command. Public school No. 40, at Walnut and Senate avenue, was dedicated to the famous colonel.

After a period of training the regiment which was sent southward was given the post of honor in the memorable attack of Fort Wagner.

Col. Shaw led his troops in the first charge and was killed on the ramparts, his body falling inside the fort. Eleven Negro soldiers leaped into the fort to defend his body and were killed.

The behavior of the regiment was such that 360,000 Negroes were enlisted to form other Federal regiments for service during the war.

Burial was in the section of Crown Hill cemetery reserved for soldiers.

Gaseteria Opens New Station

The recent improvement made in the block between Indiana and Senate avenues on West Michigan street, that has attracted the attention of many residents of that section is to be credited to the progressiveness of the Gaseteria company. Their newest, filling station now beckons motorists to this attractive spot with untentious insistence. The spotless white of its setting presents an immaculate appearance easily suggestive of a purity that is inclusive even of the products sold there.

Advanced methods of sound merchandising are the foundation upon which this station, like all of the others, operated by this progressive company, is built. These methods enable Gaseteria to serve car owners at substantial savings. Operating costs are greatly reduced thru their system of serving from tank car to the customer.

The station area is a large one, 150 feet front by 100 feet deep. This adds much to the convenience of customers.

Twelve electric metered pumps enable attendants to serve patrons quickly. Everything in the way of equipment is of the very best. The position of the owners is that after all, it is the customers' needs that must be taken care of, and the best is the cheapest in the long run.

All products are guaranteed as to their advertised quality and in addition prices are lower than elsewhere. Gaseteria Inc., is an Indiana company. Its president is Mr. Russell Williams, an aggressive business executive of the type the public admires. An able assistant and likeable chap is a brother, Mr. Phil Williams, vice-president.

When interviewed by The Recorder representative, Mr. Phil Williams expressed the confidence his firm has in the sound good sense of the motorist of this section of the city. "No pains," he said, "have been spared to make this one of the finest stations in the city; one where motorists may get any grade of oil or gas at lower prices than prevail elsewhere.

When his attention was called to the fact that the station attendants were generally courteous and polite, Mr. Williams said: "If they are anything but gentlemen on the pay roll of Gaseteria, I don't know it."

It seems that it will be difficult for motorists to do other than drive in to any one of the Gaseteria stations, get good service, with general good will, have their oil drained at ten per cent reduction, drive out, experience the satisfaction of getting their money's worth and when the bus needs services again return to Gaseteria.

This is an allurements that should tempt anyone.

"Cradle Of Race" In Africa Instead Of Asia, Is Claim

NEW YORK, July 25.—Recent excavations in the sands of the northern Sahara desert show that the "cradle of the human race" was in southern and central Africa and not in Asia, according to Alonzo W. Pond, leader of the Logan African expedition of Beloit college, Wisconsin, which has just returned after three months' work in the Sahara.

Indications that the Sahara was not a desert during the stone age, but was moist and was the scene of a great northward migration, were also found, Pond said.

With Pond on the expedition were his wife, George L. Waite, photographer, and 14 students from Beloit, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Northwestern universities.

Alabama Teachers' College Honored

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 25.—Still another distinction came to Alabama State Teachers college here on July 18, when the certificate, membership card and button indicating a life membership in the National Education association, were received by President H. C. Trenholm.

Pres. Trenholm as the youngest race college president in the entire country, has completed five years of service at Alabama State Teachers college. Since 1926 he has held a life membership in the National Association of Teachers in Colored schools which is meeting this next week at Petersburg, Va., and has also been chairman of the division of high school education for four years. While having held membership for the past five years in both the Department of Superintendence and the National Education association, he now becomes a life member in this latter body which is the largest professional organization of teachers in the entire world. The roster of life members is being placed in the cornerstone of the new building just being completed at Washington, D. C., as the headquarters for this organization of 200,000 teachers.

HOUSTON, Tex., July 25.—A large posse of armed, white men scoured the outskirts of this city for a colored man who is alleged to have criminally assaulted the wife of a merchant in her apartment here.

The alleged attack took place a few minutes after the husband of the victim had gone to work Thursday morning.

Entering the apartment through a rear entrance, the man is said to have forced the woman to turn over a small amount of money at the point of a knife.

The man was believed to have fled toward the outskirts of the city after the attack and a posse of more than 50 men took up the search for him shortly after the crime became known.

Losers in the dice game which was played in a railroad yard, are being sought. McPherson was stabbed in the abdomen.

Shot Through Heart, Lives For 5 Months

ANSONIA, Conn., July 25.—Doctors here were amazed by the case of James Bryant, husky brass foundry worker, who lived five months after he was shot through the heart in a street brawl.

Although he recovered apparently and returned to his grueling foundry employment, Bryant finally died of heart failure.

After he had been shot, the bullet piercing the edge of the heart, Bryant lifted his assailant over his head and dashed him to the ground. He walked three blocks before collapsing. The other man received a prison term.

BLAST HEROINE GETS CASH AWARD AND VAIL MEDAL

New Jersey Operator Honored for Action at Explosion and Fire

For courageous action and devotion to duty during an emergency following an explosion and fire, Miss Iola Delett Gibbons, night chief telephone operator at Woodbridge, N. J., has been awarded a 1930 Vail silver medal and a cash award of $250.

MISS IOLA DELETT GIBBONS

It was at about 2:30 o'clock on the morning of May 6, 1929, that a terrific explosion demolished a frame building adjoining the Woodbridge central office. So great was the force of the explosion that the operator was thrown violently to the floor and glass and plaster showered upon her, cutting her face and scalp severely.

Unmindful, however, of her own safety and unaware even of the cause or extent of the explosion, Miss Gibbons returned to the switchboard and notified the proper municipal and company authorities of the disaster. As she was led out of the building, her face was scorched and her hair singed, while she was going down the burning stairs, but even this fact was not sufficient to prevent her from continuing her efforts to notify the authorities, for she went to the local police headquarters where a direct line to Perth Amboy was at her disposal until she could be relieved.

TRUE TALES OF THE TELEPHONE

Making Climate to Order

As if in answer to Mark Twain's whimsical protest to the effect that "people spend a lot of time talking about the weather, but never do anything about it," telephone engineers have learned how to manufacture their own climates.

Telephone apparatus, with its complex electrical circuits and multitudinous moving parts, is susceptible to climatic conditions, including humidity. It is, accordingly necessary to create these atmospheric conditions artificially for testing purposes.

The Bell Laboratories have "weather factories" ranging from large cork-insulated rooms to smaller, portable devices, each with equipment for the accurate control of heat and moisture. Some of these can reproduce atmospheric conditions that run the gamut from the moist, hot subtropics to the crisp, cold arctic highlands. Sudden changes can be simulated, or given conditions can be maintained without variation over long periods.

South Bend Man Is Held Without Bond

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 25.—Frank Scott, 39 years old, was being held here in the county jail on a charge of murder without bond, Thursday of last week, after he confessed killing Isham Hampton, white, 39, Wednesday. Scott was ordered held by Coroner Crumpacker until the September term of the Circuit court grand jury.

Mrs. Eula Stevenson, who told the coroner she obtained a divorce from Scott last March, was also being held in default of $1,000 bond as a material witness in the case.

TELEPHONE PLAYS BIG PART IN SANITARIUM

Telephone service plays an important part in the management of the great Battle Creek Sanitarium which started its career back in 1866 in a small two-story frame farmhouse and which now occupies, with various buildings, some thirty-five acres, having more than 1,200 doctors, nurses, clerks and other employees.

The telephone serves as the interconnecting link between these various parts of the plant. Thousands of calls are made over the sanitarium's telephone system, while a large number pass through the local exchange at Battle Creek. Approximately 1,000 toll calls are handled monthly, and as the guests of the sanitarium are from all parts of the United States, the majority of these calls are to far distant points.

Old Evansville Citizen Dies At 70

EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 25.—Phillip Cook, 70 years old, long time resident of this city and churchworker of prominence, died here Saturday, July 12, after an illness of long duration.

Mr. Cook, who was born in Caldwell county, Ky., was converted to the Christian faith while quite young. In 1893, he became a member of the St. Johns M. E. church.

At the time of his death Mr. Cook's church activities included the duties of a trustee, class leader and steward. He was a member of what is known as the Men's Boosters' club and Harmony member of the W. H. M. S. and filled every station creditably.

Surviving relatives are: the widow, Mrs. Phillip Cook; two daughters, Mrs. Kattie Loving of Evansville and Mrs. Emma Holl of Indianapolis; three sisters, Mrs. Marcy Irvin of Indianapolis, Mrs. Bettie Crumbaugh of Princeton, Ky., and Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson of La Grange, Ill.; four brothers, William Anthony of Indianapolis, George of La Grange, Ill., and Frank of Memphis, Tenn.; several grandchildren and one great-grand child.

The Rev. J. D. Dixon, pastor of the St. John's A. M. E. church, officiated at the funeral services for Mr. Cook while the choir provided music.

FLEET OFFICERS VISIT BELL SYSTEM PLANT

Navy Men Take Part in Two-Way Television Demonstration

In view of the U. S. Navy's great interest in radio communications, about seventy officers of the United States fleet, when anchored in the North River, were the guests of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Bell Telephone Laboratories and the New York Telephone Company at the headquarters buildings of these companies in New York. Included in the entertainment was a demonstration of two-way television participated in by groups of the officers in the Laboratories and at the American Telephone & Telegraph Company headquarters; an inspection of the special apparatus used in connection with the trans-oceanic and ship-to-shore telephone service; a visit to the new Cortlandt and Rector dial central offices of the New York Telephone Company and an inspection of the apparatus used in sending and receiving telephotographs.

On one morning the party left the 96th Street landing in buses for a visit to the radio telephone receiving center at Netcong, N. J., and the transmitting center at Lawrenceville, where they inspected the equipment used in the A. T. & T.'s overseas telephone service to Europe and South America.

Digits by the Dozen

TELEPHONE engineers become accustomed to making computations in figures whose digits are numbered by the dozen. For convenience in handling these unwieldy numbers, long strings of ciphers are often expressed as exponents of 10. Thus 10<sup>10</sup> stands for 100 and 10<sup>6</sup> denotes 1000.

An illustration of one of these supersized numbers is afforded by a bit of mathematics connected with the reception of radio telephone signals coming to the United States from Europe. The electrical impulses picked up from the ether by one of the great Bell System transatlantic receiving stations shown above, are so weak that they have to be amplified and amplified again many times. Some conception of the amount of amplification required to make the overseas message audible may be had from the fact that it is expressed as 10<sup>6</sup> or one billion times. When the call is transmitted from the receiving station over any considerable length of long distance telephone line, it is again amplified at each successive repeater station, so that the total amplification between London and San Francisco, for example, runs into figures that stagger the imagination.

NEW YORK BIGGEST USER OF OVERSEAS TELEPHONE

New York leads all the states in the number of transatlantic telephone calls that originate in this country. After New York the states using the transatlantic service most heavily are Illinois, Pennsylvania, California, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Florida.

Following the 40 per cent reduction in transatlantic rates in March 1928, there has been a marked increase in the number of calls across the Atlantic. A little more than half of these calls are made to London, most of which are to London, but calls are made regularly to the various countries on the continent which have been connected up with the service. Probably more of these calls, however, go to Paris than to any other city on the continent, but London exceeds Paris in the number of such calls.

DEPARTMENT STORE STAGES HUGE TELEPHONE SALE

A St. Louis department store recently staged a sale of drug and toilet goods in which 9,000 telephone orders were taken in one day and more than 25,000 individual sales were made. The advertisements in the newspapers carried an invitation to the public to telephone their orders, and forty-five special order-takers, trained to use a telephone intelligently, were called into service and given instructions as to how to make out the telephone order blanks that were used. Additional number of employees were given instructions on transferring the information contained in the telephone orders to the regular sales clerks.

One of the most interesting features of the sale was that the telephone orders were taken after the store closed, from 6 to 9 o'clock.

The city golf championship matches which started two Sundays ago, ended last Sunday with Sea H. Ferguson, secretary of the Citizens Life Insurance company as the winner with a total score of 174 strokes for the final 36 holes of medal play. George Browder won second place with a score of 180 strokes for a like number of holes.

John Waddie won first place in the second flight with a score of 188 for 36 holes and Ralph McWilliams won second place with a score of 208 in the consolation round.

Ferguson started the final eighteen holes two strokes down to Leon Hill but turned in a fine 39 for the first 9 holes taking the lead from Hill and maintaining his lead during the final nine holes to win without being hand pressed.

Monday night all the participants of the tournament assembled at the Club house and the prizes were presented. Ferguson received the Em-Roe Sporting Goods Co. cup, Browder the Smith, Hassler &amp; Sturm Sporting Goods Co. cup and Waddie the brassie, given by Harry Schopp, manager of the South Grove golf links. McWilliams was not present to receive his trophy.

Ice cream and cake was served and cards were played.

After the presentation of trophies, a permanent organization was perfected and the following officers were elected: Dr. Homer Wales, pres.; Leon Hill, vice-pres.; Sea H. Ferguson, sec., and Dr. C. A. PAUL BATTIES
LOCAL TENNIS
TOURNEY CHAMP

The City championships under the auspices of the Indianapolis Raquet club brought to the fore some sterling tennis material which bids fair to give a good account of itself in the coming sectional and national tournaments. As was expected the favorites came through true to form and expectations. The women's singles were won by Leslie Henderson in defeating Maenell Hamlin after losing the first set. Until the last ball was played, Miss Hamlin offered a dangerous threat. The stolid calm of both girls made it an equal battle throughout the contest. The final scores were: Henderson 1-6, 6-2, 6-4.

The men's singles brought out some heated contests and when the eliminations were over, Paul Batties and Theodore Cable were the sole survivors. Under a blistering sun and a record thermometer, the finals were fought out for five sets. The final scores: Batties 1-6, 6-1, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

In the men's doubles, the finalists, Batties and Bable, defeated Miller and Takahashi, 6-1, 5-7, 6-1, 4-6, 9-7.

In the junior event, Francis Hummons was a decisive winner in the whole field. He defeated his opponent, Hillard Freeman 6-2, 6-0.

It is interesting to observe that Paul Batties is eligible to play in the junior event of nationals, where he may be expected to raise much more than a ripple.

IN TRACK CRASH

Bill Robertson, Walnut Garden Fifteen-Mile Feature Race Victim Of Accident

Bill Robertson, Chicago race driver, was severely injured when the car he was driving at the Walnut gardens speedway races Sunday afternoon, skidded off the track.

Robertson, who is suffering from shock, possible fractured ribs and internal injuries and bruises, was driving in the fifteen-mile feature race when his car went out of control, leaped the track on the east turn and rolled over three times.

Robertson was taken to the City hospital where his condition was reported as fair, Sunday night. Twelve cars were started in the race in which the automobile, a Frontenac belonging to the Velie Auto Service of Indianapolis, was demolished.

Charles Wiggins was in a skidding accident in an earlier race at the Walnut gardens.

Wiggins' car slid on the west turn and crashed into an automobile parked in the pits. The car whirled around and came to a stand before the grandstand minus a wheel.

GEORGE GODFREY WOULD FIGHT
PRIMO CARNERA FOR CHARITY

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 25.—(ANP)—George Godfrey "went to work" last week. The Philadelphia heavyweight championship contender has finally bestirred himself in an effort to erase the black mark that has been checked against his name as a result of his recent fight with Primo Carnera, the Italian giant.

Godfrey insists that the alleged foul, if committed "was wholly accidental and unavoidable." In furtherance of this claim, Godfrey's lawyer, Raymond Pace Alexander, has filed suit against the Pennsylvania Boxing commission for the return of the $5,000 which is being held by them as a forfeit in punishment to Godfrey. Godfrey also seeks a return bout with Carnera.

Godfrey's challenge is an offer to fight Carnera, a 10-round bout to a decision—Godfrey to fight without compensation whatever save the guarantee of his bare training expenses. Godfrey's purse is to go to whatever charities the Boxing commission selects. The only condition is that the two colored hospitals, Mercy and Douglass, be included in the distribution.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Kid Chocolate won a 10-round decision over Luigi Quadrini of Italy here Tuesday night of last week. Chocolate weighed 128 1/2, Quadrini 126.

Quadrini was billed as the featherweight champion of Italy. The Kid had to work hard all the way to earn his decision. Fight experts had predicted that the Kid would win in a walk but Quadrini by his ability to dance away from

Champ, To Fight Corbet In 6 Months

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—A demand that Young Jack Thompson, welterweight champion of the world, give a title bout to Young Corbett III, Fresno Italian, within six months of May 9, the date Thompson beat Champion Jackie Fields, was made Tuesday in a resolution passed by the California state athletic commission.

Corbett recently gave Thompson a severe beating in a non-title bout in San Francisco.

In a ruling Tuesday the commission revoked the license of Referee Bert Walls because he failed to appear and defend a decision he gave Chado Laredo, Mexico City fighter, against Speedy Dado, Filipino, at Hollywood, last Friday.

Although Dado and Laredo appeared to be sincere in their efforts, Walls awarded Laredo the decision when Dado was far ahead. Rumors of "fixing" without knowledge of the fighters caused the commission to investigate.

'THE DIVORCEE'
TO BE SHOWN AT THE WALKER

What is heralded as the most important talking production in which Norma Shearer has been seen to date, will be shown to the public when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer exhibits "The Divorcee" at the Walker theatre, beginning Sunday, July 27, for 4 days' run.

Critical opinion at a recent Los Angeles preview of the production was to the effect that it is far and away Miss Shearer's greatest individual triumph, ranking ahead of both "The Trial of Mary Dugan," and "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney."

Outstanding Cast
Three prominent male actors, Conrad Nagel, Chester Morris and Robert Montgomery are featured in Miss Shearer's support in the new film and each one appears to have walked off with more than his share of the picture.

According to advance reports, "The Divorcee" is a brilliant and sophisticated expose of the promiscuous use of divorce in modern smart society. The production is said to have been filmed with a lavish hand, the environment of New York's millionaire class being faithfully reproduced in both costume and settings.

"In Gay Madrid" Last Half
That army of screen fans who have been waiting to hear Ramon Novarro sing Spanish love songs will be amply rewarded in "In Gay Madrid," his new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which opens Thursday, July 31, for a three days' run at the Walker.

In this romantic picturization of the Spanish classic, "La Casa de la Trova," Novarro is to be heard in six new original songs, the most tuneful yet to reach the screen as original compositions. The story is a charming one and in it Dorothy Jordan again plays the leading feminine role, winning new laurels with her appeal as the demure senorita for whom Novarro sings of his love.

The fans need not delay longer, wise ones will start now whooping it up for the hometown team. It's your booster and know your garbage cans, give three rousing cheers for Jewel's Indianapolis A. B. C.'s. Take it from one who knows, they're there.

With the intense heat of last Sunday adding insult to injury, the play things brought to Washington park were competently flattened out by Jewel's A. B. C.'s in a manner that leaves no doubt of their superior playing ability.

Scores by innings:

Every man on the team deserves a good round of laudatory comment. The spot light of approval also falls on the club manager and owners. They are to be congratulated upon the fine moral with which the team seems to be blessed.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS

The inferior accommodation afforded the Negro Gold Star mothers for the purpose of visiting the graves of their departed loved ones in France, was a direct insult, not only to the bereaved parents but the entire race.

According to dispatches on the subject, the class of ship on which the dead soldiers' mothers sailed was of the freighter-passenger type. A type of ship that the War department would dare not even suggest to the mothers of white soldiers who died as did the black soldiers to preserve democracy.

The government claims that it was unable to charter as decent a ship for the colored women as were obtained for their white sisters. Added to this was the astoundingly absurd announcement that none of the steamship lines would furnish first-class ships for colored contingents. It can be plainly seen that this is an attempt on the part of Secretary of War Hurley to cover up his tracks and pass the buck to the steamship company.

The blindest fool knows that the United States government has it in its power to furnish its citizens, such as are represented by the Gold Star mothers and their sacred mission across the seas with the sort of accommodation that would at least measure up to a status of decency. What, may we ask, has become of the line of boats operated under the government's own commission? Would one of these not have been far more acceptable than the stuffy bunk of a freight ship?

Of course, no intelligent American is capable of believing that any real effort was put forth to obtain for the Negro war mothers the kind of accommodation to which they were in every respect entitled.

The treatment thus meted out to these women by the United States department of war is a clear evidence of the absence of any respect for the Gold Star mothers. It is also a direct slap at common decency and a demonstration of a naked contempt for the feelings of the nation's twenty million Negroes.

White Americans fought and died for the same high purpose that sent the black Americans to their graves on the battle fields of France. Yet, when it comes to the simple matter of sending mothers of dead patriots over there to view the graves of their fallen sons, Jim-crowism is conveniently allowed to step in to provide the white women with a palatially fitted up passenger ship and the colored mothers with a boat that was scarcely intended for the occasion.

Summed up, the whole incident represents a national disgrace of which the administration should be infinitely ashamed.

LIBERIA'S TROUBLES

That the Republic of Liberia with its preponderance of superstition, ignorance and other unfortunate circumstances is in dire need of substantial outside sympathy and assistance goes without saying.

President King, reputed despot of the land, continues to administer the affairs of his executive office much to the detriment of the Liberians and to his own discredit as a national leader.

Open slavery, openly countenanced officially is a curse with which Liberia and Liberians are now contending and against which the whole civilized world is or should be protesting.

The peoples' education and general welfare are being neglected to a point unbelievable. Everything that makes for official injustice and the promotion of wrong against right is, from every indication being aided and abetted by the chief executive officer of Liberia. A rather disheartening circumstance, indeed and one that is entitled to drastic adjustment.

It seems impossible to believe that any Negro ruler in these civilized times could conscientiously indulge in the practice of conscripting his fellow countrymen and race of people into slavery and consequent disgrace.

One would think that King would use a deterrent against saturating his country's records with the stench of human slavery, the conviction that Negroes have had enough and will have no more of it. Yet the fact remains that such is the state of things in Liberia, where the institution of actual slavery is a going concern with the advice and consent of the government.

With this man, King, and his retrogressive system of government at the head of Liberia's affairs, we fail to see any very encouraging future for the African republic. Perhaps what the Liberian chief officer needs is a permanent back seat, less of laziness and more of common sense with a full measure of ambition on the part of Liberia's citizens should produce the effect of delivering that country from its present state of criminal uncertainty and stagnant inactivity.

Our Contemporaries Say

COLE BLEASE

As bad as are some of our fellow American citizens may be, north, south, east and west, there are few men who would stoop to so low a level as does Cole Blease, to be elected to any public office. The Senator from South Carolina, who is perhaps the demagogue of political demagogues, said in defense of lynching in a campaign speech for re-election last week: "Whenever the Constitution comes between me and the virtue of the white women of South Carolina, I say to h... with the Constitution. God forbid, that any white man should hesitate to lynch any Negro that puts his hand on one of our white women." But this infernal hypocrite who plays to the votes of prejudiced and ignorant poor white people does not say what should be done to white men, perhaps, in places as high as that he occupies, who consort with colored women and by advantage and convenience actually commit rape against Negro women of the south who feel themselves defenseless against the approach of certain white men.

Mr. R. B. Eleazer, Educational director of the Inter-racial commission commenting on the speech of Cole Blease before a Y. W. C. A. conference of white women in North Carolina the other day, said, "Senator Cole Blease's recent public defense of lynching illustrates the fact that the anti-Negro ravings of political demagogues have done more than anything else to discredit the south abroad and disturb its peace and tranquility at home. How often have our cheeks burned, with humiliation as they 'strutted their stuff' in Congress or on the stump, while the world looked on in derision and disgust? With the Psalmist we are constrained to say, 'How long.' It is high time for the intelligence and patriotism of the south to repudiate once and forever such false and dangerous leadership."

The Louisville Courier-Journal supports Mr. Eleazer's appeal to the better element of the white people of the south by urging the South Carolina voters to defeat Blease in the August primary election and while Blease was making his nasty speech Attorney General Lean W. Harris, the man who is opposing him for the renomination was attempting to bring justice seventeen white men charged with lynching a colored man accused of criminal assault.

Tillman is dead and forgotten, Vandaman went crazy, died in an insane asylum and was buried a few days ago without any tears being shed. Herlin is at the end of his road, Blease's sun is setting, and the sooner all of the Cole Blease type are relegated to the past or buried in the ground the sooner we shall be able to stop race prejudice, Mob violence, make all America a fit place for every citizen to live and spread peace and good will over all the earth.

—THE LOUISVILLE LEADER

MR. HOOVER DISAPPOINTS

Those sincere Negro supporters of Herbert Hoover for President must be somewhat perturbed at Mr. Hoover's absolute lack of recognition politically or otherwise to America's black one-tenth. The present chief executive personally wealthy and holder of every international honor obtainable, classed as a humanitarian has disappointed those who thought his administration would be far above those of his more practical politically minded predecessors. The hopes of Negro leaders were high at the opening of his administration. He has only the forgotten Mrs. DePriest tea invitation, and the recent minor appointments of W. C. Bueston and D. E. Henderson to offset the long to be remembered lack of race representation on the Haitian commission. The Supreme court appointment of Justice John J. Parker and the gratuitous insult to 219 Colored Gold Star Mothers as an example of his regard for the Afro-American. The President's seeming disregard is a bitter pill for the high type of Negro leadership of the John R. Hawkins-Albon Holsey, R. R. Moton calibre that replaced the old Perry Howard, Ben Davis, practical politician group, during the last campaign. The former group attracted some of America's chief substantial business men and women, many of whom actually favored Smith and the Democratic party because of the Republican growing disregard of the Negro's interest and who voted the Republican ticket merely because they felt that the colored people would get a new deal from the G. O. P. It will take more than a few figure head appointments to soothe the wrath of Afro-Americans.

BELIEVE THAT LIFE IS WORTH WHILE

Believing that life is worth while, makes it worth living. Without a star in the east, something to call us on, life becomes a dreary grind, a useless revolution. Let us believe in the promise of the rainbow, believe that dreams come true, believe in the realization of hopes. When we carry a light heart life is indeed worth while.

CRUISING AROUND

By LEE JAY MARTIN

Fifty-six mothers who lost their sons in the World War, disregarding the mean, silly, spineless attitude of the government, and sailed to France to stand a few minutes beside the graves of their off-springs. Those mothers are not to be condemned.

The 394 Gold Star mothers who refused the trip, did so against their motherly desire, for the sake of the race. Any mother would desire, regardless of the sacrifice, to cast the last lingering look upon the grave of her son. Therefore, we are compelled to appreciate to the depths of our hearts the noble sacrifice these mothers have made, by turning down the only opportunity to see the graves of their son.

There ought to be some way to make that War department send these mothers to see the graves of their sons, in such a manner as they wish to go. It appears to me as though the government took those boys over into France, shot them down and spit in their mother's faces. A black son is just as dear to a black mother as a white son is to a white mother.

TEDDY ROOSEVELT WOULD NOT HAVE STOOD FOR SUCH A THING.

And further more, most of the people of the country are fair-minded enough to see the injustice of the affair, and they look down upon those officials who handled the affair as a bunch of weaklings, who wouldn't have "guts" enough to tell a drunken man that he (the drunken man) was intoxicated.

And the almost untruthful excuse, that steamship lines refuse to accommodate the black Gold Star mothers—They didn't refuse to accommodate the sons of those mothers. Yet if one of the ships got in bad in a foreign land, the black son would be called on to protect a ship, which had refused to carry his mother. How in the high heavens could any man be loyal to such low brow officials, misrepresenting our noble land?

They sent the president-elect on a sight-seeing tour almost half around the world, on one of the countries finest battleships, he had not sacrificed anything or body, yet the best they could offer to those who had sacrificed 450 loved ones, was a steamboat on a jim crow journey. Satan himself would hide his face before committing such a crime, in fact it really does not make any difference to Satan, as a black imp is just as good as a white imp in his eyesight.

We are all citizens in the time of war, and we should be treated as such in the time of peace. Most especially by our national government.

They had a meeting last Sunday night, Down at the meeting place, But the preacher was uneasy— You could see it in his face. A deacon rose up in his seat, With his face full of frowns, The preacher began to sing—

"Put your trust in Thee O Lord, When I get outside, But I'll have to depend on my legs Right now, to save my hide. Out of the pulpit the pastor went, Made a dash for the door; The deacon was left behind, Because he was too slow. The preacher soon slipped out of view, Running as fast as he could, Some say they heard him humming,

"Come to the Church in the 'Wild Woods.' Yet we keep on progressing, Though very slowly here o' late. Pretending to be Christian brothers With hearts overflowing with hate.

Open Letter To L. K. Williams

President, National Baptist Convention

Rev. L. K. Williams, D. D., Pres., Nat. Bapt. Convention, Chicago, Ill.

My dear Dr. Williams:

I want to congratulate you on the approaching Golden Jubilee of the National Baptist convention to be celebrated next August in the City of Chicago. Surely fifty years of consecutive organized Christian endeavor represents an accomplishment unsurpassed within the religious life of the Negro race.

There have been gathered under the Baptist banner two thirds of the recorded church membership. Especially do I wish to congratulate you upon the growth and expansion of the organization under your administration.

The rising tide of northern migration has been coped with by an adequate religious statesmanship. Baptist churches have grown up and thriven like David's green bay tree. Without any disparagement of other denomination, it is only accurate to say that while they have remained comparatively stationary, the northern cities have been baptized in the on-swell Baptist flood. One cannot help noting the comparison in Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, as well as in the great centers of the middle west and south-western sections. We must welcome the suggestion of the organic union of the several more numerous branches of the Methodist church which would form a wholesome and healthy rivalry in these two great divisions of the Christian army. The smaller and less numerous denominations would retain their useful function of holding out other types of worship for those who might not prefer the Baptist or Methodist theological tenets or ceremonial forms.

Our age is crassly irreligious. In spite of the growing church membership godliness is rapidly on the gain. The better educated of our youth, especially in the cities, are turning away from the religion of their fathers and mothers. The pulpit and places of moral and spiritual authority are not being recruited from the cultured and college bred. Few, also, too few, of the graduates of our schools and colleges are entering the sacred calling of the ministry. If this tendency is allowed to continue, the lamentable future of the Negro church is easy to predict. As you stand at the head of the largest body of Negro Christians in the world, the responsibility of correcting this unfortunate tendency rests heavily upon the shoulders of your denomination.

But, my dear Dr. Williams, I did not start out to indite a homily upon the evil tendency of the times, nor to dim the glorification of your approaching jubilee with gloomy forebodings. My purpose in this communication is both simple and single. I want to urge that the great Baptist denomination at this Golden Jubilee put itself on record in behalf of prohibition. A ringing resolution in this behalf issuing from my influential body at this critical time would reverberate around the world. It would convince the Christian world that the Negro Baptists abound in their moral energy or spiritual courage. It is needless to point out the havoc which the liquor evil is working within the Negro race. The weaker vessel, the group with least power of inhibition, necessarily suffers most from any evil practice. Clever minded youth are selling their soul to the Devil for the ill gotten gain through bootlegging and violation of law. Let me forestall the argument of comparison. I know that the white man has his full quota of sin. But your concern and mine is mainly with the evil doers on our side of the color line.

The weak race should never strive to rival the stronger in relative wrongdoing. I would be glad to concede to the white race a monopoly of the vices. The minority group should never array itself against the law of the land unless such laws are enacted in curtailment of its moral and constitutional rights. It is in vain that we invite comparison with other violated sections of the Constitution. The prohibition amendment is now in the moral focus. Strike the iron while it is hot. Public conscience cold on the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments. The observance of one of these amendments will lead to the strengthening of all. The violation of or indifference to the Eighteenth Amendment on the part of the Negro will lead to indifference of white people towards those in which he has peculiar and especial concern.

The church must adopt some principle of practical import that will appeal to the consecration and devotion of high minded youth. They are drifting away from its standards largely because of a lack of such challenge. Shakespeare says in one breath that comparisons are odious and in another that comparisons are odorous. While we should not aim to rival the white man in vice and crime, we should strive to equal or surpass him in virtue. The two great wings of the Methodist church, north and south, have gone on record in favor of prohibition. They both have put both political parties on notice that they regard prohibition as a moral principle which transcends partisan politics. I am sure that the Negro Baptists have equal moral conviction and courage.

I believe that a ringing declaration in behalf of temperance on part of the National convention, would be quickly followed by the annual and general conferences of the several Methodist denominations, as well as by the whole religious life of the Negro race would be in alignment with the greatest moral reform of the age. Surely this is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

Yours truly,
 KELLY MILLER.

Bedtime Story

THE PAPOOSE

"In a quaint old city," said daddy "Indians come into town every Saturday morning with bright colored baskets and beaded moccasins. They make these things and they make beaded bags and purses and little ornaments.

"They drive oxen instead of horses and the oxen move as slowly as if they did not care in the least if they ever got anywhere at all!

"The Indian women or snaws as they are called, carry large baskets upon their heads in which are the things they have to sell, small baskets purses and moccasins.

"Sometimes, too, they bring into town flowers in the summer and in the autumn red berries—for they have a little village of their own out in the country. They are not wild at all and they would not dream of hurting anyone.

"One day a little girl named Olive, was sitting in her room reading when she heard the front door bell ring. She went downstairs and there was a little Indian girl, not any older than herself.

"Will the beautiful lady buy my pretty basket?" asked the little Indian girl.

"Olive was so pleased! She was not nearly big enough to be called 'lady,' for she was still very young, and she knew quite well that she was not beautiful at all. She had freckles and a very big mouth, and she had only a little hair which was quite straight. And she was tall for her age and much too thin. But she had never been called beautiful before and though she knew the little Indian girl was quite wrong, still she was delighted.

"You are beautiful yourself," said Olive. For the Indian girl had long, black hair, and enormous dark eyes, wonderful dark skin with quite a good deal of color.

"Me beautiful?" she asked. "Oh, no, me not beautiful at all."

They each thought the other beautiful because each was so different.

"Olive bought some baskets for her mother and a little beaded purse for herself and then she said to the little Indian girl:

"Won't you have some cocoa with me?" The little Indian girl nodded her head and said "Me like goodies!"

"So Olive and the little girl went into Olive's room and had a fine feast, using blue cups and saucers and eating bread and butter from little blue plates.

"Me tell you story?" asked the little Indian girl. Olive was delighted.

"Please," she said. And the little Indian girl began:

"My brudder, he very big man. He tall and strong and plenty muscle he has." She bent her arms to show what she meant by muscle and she stood up with her arms above her to how how tall he was. "He built a boat," she went on, "a red boat—a canoe—and he take it along water so it never make a sound. He know how to paddle so! Never a sound!"

"We have a river by our hut and he keep the boat by the bank, tied to an old tree. He take us all out in it but what do you suppose he call that boat?"

"Olive couldn't guess. She tried many names she thought the boat might be called, but they were all wrong. "Tell me," she begged.

"My brudder, he not call his boat after great strong man, or after warrior or hero; no, he call boat after our little baby brudder—what mudder call the little wee one. He call his boat the Papoose which mean Indian baby—and he mean our baby. His boat which can go out into the big waves and not upset—which is so strong, like my brudder—it is named the Papoose after the baby." Her eyes were dancing with joy but it was time for her to be off.

"She put her basket on top of her head and started off. 'Will your fadder bring you to see the big Papoose and the little Papoose?' she asked as she left, and to Olive's great delight her mother called out:

observance of one of these amendments will lead to the strengthening of all. The violation of or indifference to the Eighteenth Amendment on the part of the Negro will lead to indifference of white people towards those in which he has peculiar and especial concern.

WARNS AGAINST CANNIBALISM

"Will there be cannibals in America?"

Glancing over the criminal condition of our fair and glorious country, we are brought face to face with these questions, "Are we at the height of our intellect? If so, what will be our next move?"

Already there are vivid signs of cannibalism and idolatry among our best citizens. Burning a man alive is more frequent in this country than hot potting human beings in Africa or torture by the race wheel in China. The goddess of fun and destruction seems to rule and for her sake, various kinds of crimes are hatching daily.

The sensibility of shame seems to be dead. No appeal can turn the tide that is sweeping America into the hands of destruction. This trust has disorganized this country along every essential line. The hypocritical action of our churches and government officials is largely responsible for the criminal condition of America. Teaching the people to hate from the pulpit, presidents and governors holding the coats of men while they burn and torture Negroes is destroying America's influence abroad. And if something is not done to check these many evils we will soon be looked upon as the greatest criminal country in the world. The so-called mystery of the high school road murder is no mystery at all. It was only the deed of man who acted according to his teaching. The accused man is from Alabama where such acts are commonly perpetrated on Negroes. It should have a moral effect on the white race of America.

No act of violence can be practiced on the Negro without leaving dangerous effect on the white race.

There are many whites working day and night to undermine this government. We are at a critical point. At any time we may be thrown into confusion. Whatever will or may come the Negro, like Job, will truthfully say "Though I see slay me, yet will I trust thee. It may be theirs to follow the flag down to the depth of shame and disgrace, yet willingly they'll go wherever it leads.

With the cloud of fear and doubt hanging over the country, how much more should every citizen, black or white, fight to hold high the standard credited by the great fathers of this land. If there is but one God, let there be but one Christian standard. If the black and whites are citizens of this one government, let there be but one brand of justice for all, and all work in unison to bring back to our great country the standard of purity and fair dealing to all. We, as a great nation, should not slip backward into a savage state, but should start in the home, then of church. Last but not least, men of government affairs should uphold the law that says "Thou shalt not kill." This is not a barbarous country for cannibals. It is for high type citizens.

These degenerate beings that are roasting Negroes may some day be found eating and our safety will depend on the taste and the digestion. Stop the pup from killing the chickens then you will not have the job of keeping the dog from eating hens. It will be up to the best brain of this government to say whether or not we shall start downward from the great height maintained by the fathers or reach for another round! The question lies at the door of the white house and the white church. Yet the Negro can do much to make the answer easy for themselves.

Take Your Troubles To Fanny Lou Nightingale

I am a young girl, 15 years old, and I don't think I'm so very bad looking. I do not suffer with those bodily annoyances, as hiccups, etc., that make one offensive, yet I'm not popular with the other sex. I dress well and dance. My parents belong to the old school. They think I should never be out later than 12 p. m. I'm not a good time girl, yet I love a good, decent time. I do not smoke or drink. Girls that have no moral standard get all of the breaks with the boys, even to marriage. Don't men like good girls any more?

Let me in advance, warn you that I am not a strict moralist. I do not brand a girl as lacking morals who smokes and is out later than 12 midnight. Perhaps you are too straight laced, too standardized. I have two suggestions. First, try to be natural, liberal and happy; be less swift in your condemnations. But beware of going to extremes, I do not mean for you to deliberately begin sowing wild oats.

And secondly remember that the good always champions over the bad, sooner or later. Good time women do not make good wives. This observation may account for the large number of divorce cases. Extreme good and extreme bad are bitter pills. Try the middle ground.

—Fanny Lou.

Chicago-Detroit To Feature Alabama State Night From August 23rd To 25th

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 25.—"Alabama State Night" will be featured by the Chicago alumni of the Alabama State Teachers college on Saturday night, August 23, and by the Detroit alumni on Monday night, August 25, in connection with the short tour of the male quartette, the band and the now famous ten-piece dance orchestra, according to announcement made here today by Willis L. James, director of musical organizations.

At Chicago, the Alumni chapter will present the "Bama State Collegians" in a monster benefit dance at the Binga Arcade on Saturday night, August 23. At Detroit on Monday night, August 25, the new majestic ballroom on Woodward avenue will be the scene of the Midnight ball for Alabama state alumni, former students, friends and dance lovers as well as for the host visiting of finals of the Elks oratorical, contest earlier in the evening when an Alabama boy—Homer McEwen, speaks. These musical organizations will be in Chicago and Detroit incident to the Golden Jubilee of the National Baptist convention and to the annual Elks convention respectively. The male quartette, which sings regularly over the radio now, will appear at both these meetings, while the crack band will lead the Alabama delegation of Elks in the grand parade in Detroit on Tuesday, August 26. The "Bama State collegians," the crack ten-piece orchestra of versatile and experienced "big time" musicians that has been a sensation in its appearances throughout Alabama and with its nineteen radio programs—and that is now the official Elks orchestra of Alabama, will prove to be a real attraction to those who will share "Alabama State Night," at Chicago on August 23 and at Detroit on August 25th.

WHITE BAPTISTS ENDORSE GOLDEN JUBILEE MEET

CHICAGO, July 25.—(ANP)—

The forthcoming celebration of the Golden jubilee of the National Baptist convention, which will draw more than 50,000 people to this city, will have the full support of the Chicago Baptist Ministers' association, white, when it is held August 14-25.

This fact became known here last week when at the regular meeting of the association, a resolution was unanimously adopted endorsing the jubilee session and urging the white churches to co-operate with the Negro churches in raising necessary funds for the entertainment of the convention.

According to a statement in The Baptist, the official organ of the association, representatives have been designated to attend the convention sessions and to co-operate with those now in charge in arrangements in order to see that everything is carried out as planned. A large number of the white Baptist churches have agreed to a plan of having prominent members of the National Baptist Convention of America fill their pulpits Sunday mornings, August 18 and 25.

In the meantime, in the offices of the president, Dr. L. K. Williams, a staff of workers is busily engaged working out plans for the convention and the celebration program. The local committee has the support of the entire city, including business and professional men and women of every denomination.

All Road Lead To Chicago

That a few days prior to the holding of the celebration, that "all roads will lead to Chicago," is indicated in the deluge of letters being received advising when various delegations will arrive. Special trains will be run from various sections of the country. Other delegations will make the trip by motor, according to these advices. Anyway, it is felt here that the estimate of 50,000 is conservative.

Southern A. M. E. District Conference Was Largely Attended And Big Success

By ALLIE GILLIAM

The Annual Southern District conference of the A. M. E. church which convened here at the Bethel A. M. E. church, July 8, 9 and 10, came to a close, after much substantial accomplishments in interest of the church.

The following officers were elected at the conference which was largely attended and highly inspirational throughout: Mrs. Hattie Cain, Franklin, superintendent Sunday school; Miss Beulah Engleson, assistant superintendent, Sunday school, and Mrs. J. P. Q. Wallace, superintendent of the Primary department.

With many young people from various schools taking an active part in nearly all the subjects the program arranged for the Sunday school was particularly well carried out.

Churches throughout the country, of the denomination are making preparations to send large delegations and are co-operating with the local arrangement committee, according to Dr. Williams, and the event will be just what it is planned, a celebration by Baptists in the Baptist fashion, with the other denominations co-operating and participating.

Special mention is due Mrs. Wallace for the very helpful talk which she gave on the primary work. Mrs. Wallace's talk had the effect of bringing out many questions from the primary teachers.

The convention was treated to a real lecture on "Religious Training," by Miss Engleson of Bloomington.

The convention, which will long be remembered for its constructive program, was very interesting from every standpoint.

It was revealed in no mistaken term that our Sunday schools under the supervision of Mrs. Cain are definitely coming to the front.

WELFARE ASSN. TO HOLD TWO WEEKS MEET

The Grand United Negro Welfare Association of America, is launching a series of progressive meetings at 2733 James street, to cover a period of two weeks. The meetings are scheduled to start Monday.

Prospective visitors are being urged to take the Columbia street car to 25th street, thence by bus to James street and north two and a half blocks to the church and headquarters of the mass meeting.

According to its officers, the Welfare association is a religious organization brought into being for the purpose of raising money for the benefit of the Negro people.

Charity is one of several principles upon which the organization is based, its members claim. Other objects of the association are to help finance Negro men and women who are starting up in business, and open and operate factories.

"The association," said a recent statement from the welfare organization, "is fighting against those Negroes that want to build more churches."

"We have too many churches," says the statement which concludes with the observation that "instead of churches we want to build factories where Negroes can work and earn a living."

At picnic in connection with the two weeks' program of the Welfare association will be given Saturday of next week at 3 o'clock.

Headquarters of the Grand United Welfare Association of America is at 2426 N. Sheldon avenue.

"Y" Head Lived In White Section To Lose Job

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 25.—(ANP)—According to reports here, Samuel R. Morsell, widely known Y. M. C. A. secretary, is to be retired from his position here when his contract expires in September. Morsell's loss of his position is directly traceable to the protest of white residents who objected to his living with a colored dentist, Dr. Errol E. Collymore, who purchased a home in an exclusive white neighborhood, called Brookfield. At the time the trouble was aired several months ago, Morsell was warned that the board did not like the support which he gave to Dr. Collymore by living with him. Members of the board, while announcing that Morsell would not be at White Plains, another year refused to discuss the reason for his retirement. Before coming to White Plains, Mr. Morsell was executive secretary of Pittsburg. Mr. Morsell was at Bordentown attending at Y. M. C. A. conference and could not be reached before going to press.

is the inseparable companion of Achievement

Among the year after year clients of The Indianapolis Recorder are numbered almost every type of business institution. Our contact with these concerns has gone far beyond the mechanics of producing a printed message of typographical and artistic correctness.

Layout, illustration, color combination, engraving, mailing—even merchandising plans and copy—are discussed with us, and in many instances, completely supervised by us.

Thus in delegating your printing job or your advertising to The Indianapolis Recorder, you get not only the advantages of the finest equipment, highly trained personnel and supervision, but also the helpful benefits of a vast experience that may often mean much in printing efficiency and economy.

So complete and so experienced a printing service merits thorough understanding of its convenience, satisfaction and economy.

May we have the opportunity of explaining to you in detail at your convenience—without any obligation on your part, of course.
